

STUDY COUNSELLING

He moana pukepuke e kengia e te waka | A stormy sea can be navigated.

If you're passionate about helping people, then a counselling degree will put you on the right path to working with your community.

Bachelor of Applied Counselling (Level 7)

Start dates	February
Duration	3 years (full-time) or up to 6 years (part-time)
Cost	$5920 (approx.)
Location	Online plus, four one-week residential block courses and practicums (work experience) in Year 2 and 3

Designed to allow you to maximise your learning from home. Study online without having to come into regular classes while still being fully supported by lecturers. You'll also attend four one-week block courses at MIT Manukau each year to allow you to get together with fellow students and participate in casework sessions under the guidance of your lecturer.

In your second and third years you'll have the opportunity to put theory into practice through practicums (work experience).

If you have been away from study for a long time and are unsure about your academic skills, talk to us to find out more about how we can help.
